

FEDERICO BONAGLIA

Mr. Federico Bonaglia is the Deputy Director of the OECD Development Centre

Federico supports the Director in establishing the strategic directions and implementing the Programme of Work of the Development Centre, ensuring that the Centre's analysis and advice remain at the forefront of policy thinking and produce results. He provides leadership to strengthen the Development Centre's engagement and impact with Africa, Latin America and global governance processes, as well as in several thematic areas such as migration and development, natural resources or territorial development.

An economist by training, Mr. Bonaglia has been involved and led several projects at the OECD Development Centre on the economic and institutional consequences of globalisation for developing countries in Africa, South-East Asia, Central America, the Black Sea and Central Asia regions. His research interests focus on international trade and investment, as well as structural reforms, private sector development and agriculture.

Mr Bonaglia holds a Master with honours in economics and social sciences (1997) and a Master in Economics (1999) from Bocconi University. Federico Bonaglia is an Italian national.